REPUBLICANS HOLD A

LIVELY CONVENTION.

The Republicans of Breckinridge county held a lively convention at Hardinsburg last Saturday. It was the "outs" against the "ins." The "outs" seem to have had the best of the fight, as they carried everything with a whoop. The "outs" claim that they are getting tired of being dominated by the revenue and post-office elements and want a little say themselves about the organization of the party, even if they can't have it about the revenue offices.

The first fight came up over the election of a temporary chairman. Mr. Allen R. Kinchele, the present county chairman, was put up by the "ins" and the Hon. Chas. Blanford was the champion of the "outs." Mr. Kinchele called the convention to order promptly at 2 o'clock p. m. Dr. E. P. Rodgers, of Askins, in a highly complimentary and enthusiastic speech, presented the name of Mr. A. R. Kinchele. Judge Ahl seconded the nomination. The judge was enthusiastic for his man and his party and called on his friends to do their duty as became good Republicans, who loved their party, their president and their country.

Mr. W. Sherman Ball was the spokesman of the "outs" and when he put in nomination the Hon. Chas. Blanford for the place the applause was immense and showed how the convention stood. The vote was put by Dr. Rodgers and resulted in the nomination of the Hon. Chas. Blanford.

Mr. Blanford took the chair and made a stirring speech for Roosevelt and Republicanism.

The Hon. R. M. Jolly was chosen Secretary.

Mr. Allen R. Kinchele moved that the chair appoint two committees of five each, one on delegates and one on resolutions. Mr. Sherman Ball seconded an amendment to this resolution. It was that the chair appoint a committee of three on delegates and resolutions. The amendment prevailed and the chair appointed the following committee: Capt. J. H. Rowland, W. J. Hall and W. S. Ball. The committee retired and returned with the following report, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that we, the Republicans of Breckinridge county, in convention assembled unreservedly commend the wise and patriotic administration of President Roosevelt and heartily endorse him for the nomination for President, and recommend that the delegates from the Fourth congressional district be instructed to cast their votes for him in the National convention.

We present to the consideration of the district convention, to be held at Shepherdsville May 2, the name of John P. Haswell, Jr., of this county, as a candidate for delegate to the National convention, to be held at Chicago, and endorse and recommend his candidacy to the Republicans of the Fourth District. And our delegates are instructed to cast their votes for him as long as his name shall be before the convention, to vote on every question and nomination among them in such a manner as will promote his candidacy and secure his selection as such delegate using every honorable means to attain that end.

The convention up to this time had comparatively smooth sailing. It struck a snag, however, when Mr. Jesse R. Eakridge offered the following resolutions:

Be it resolved that the delegates of this county be instructed to vote for a resolution in the district convention instructing the delegates chosen by the district convention to vote for the Hon. John W. Yerkes for National Committeeman.

Mr. Ball was on his feet in an instant and raised the point of order that the resolution was out of order, that it should have to be placed before the committee on resolutions and acted on by them. This brought on a lively debate. Those speaking for the resolution were A. R. Kinchele, Dr. Rodgers, Hon. R. M. Jolly and Judge Wm. Ahl. Those opposed were Mr. Ball, Mr. Royalty and several others. The chair put the vote on the resolution and it was lost.

Those opposed to the resolution said they had no objection to Mr. Yerkes, but it was the crowd that was trying to boost him and carry everything by storm. In other words, Mr. Royalty said "that the party in this county were getting tired of being ruled by the revenue gang."

It was a pretty warm convention in the way of words. After the fight was over they all shook hands and held a love feast over Roosevelt.

The following delegates were appointed to attend the district convention at Shepherdsville and the State convention at Louisville: Chas. Blanford, W. J. Piggott, R. M. Jolly, D. C. Haron, W. S. Ball, G. D. Shellman, H. M. Beard, Jno. P. Haswell, Jr., A. R. Kinchele, Hoos Pile, Sam Bassett, Crit Hambleton, Wm. Bead, Jno. M. Butler, Burrell Wittinghill, Dr. Rodgers, W. J. Hall, Capt. J. H. Rowland, Joe Fitch, Frank P. Payne, S. A. Pate, John B. Bates, Geo. Gray, Jesse R. Eakridge.

Haswell Has Fair Chance

Hon. J. P. Haswell, Jr., of Hardinsburg, has a fair chance of being selected as delegate to the National convention at the Fourth district convention at Shepherdsville. He not only received the instructed delegates of Breckinridge county, on Saturday, but also the majority of the delegates at the Hardin county convention, at which he was present, and the instruction of "Meade county in his favor."

Fist Fight at Hawesville

At the Republican convention at Hawesville Saturday about five blows were exchanged between N. B. Chambers, one of Franks' revenue men, and E. C. Vance, the former being considerably worse, although Vance bled considerably. In answer to a strong speech by Mr. Vance against the "kneeshaw" tactics of the revenue men, Chambers charged that Vance was turned out of the postoffice for forging an order. Vance resented the assertion and the two men rushed together.

Results in the State

Returns from out in the State indicate the election of W. O. Bradley, of Louisville, John W. Yerkes, of Danville; Richard P. Ernst, of Covington, and George W. Long, of Madisonville, as delegates to the National Convention from the State-at-large.

Jordan Jackson, a negro from Fayette county, may be given a place instead of Mr. Long. Former Gov. Bradley led in the number of instructed votes.

Yerkes followed, second: Ernst, third.

J. A. EVERETT ADDRESSES

FARMERS IN THIS CITY.

J. A. Everett, National President of the American Society of Equity, made an interesting talk about the objects of the Society at O'ne's Hall, Saturday evening, to the farmers and business men of this city and vicinity. In response to many letters received at Indianapolis, Ind., the headquarters of the Society, Mr. Everett came to Western Kentucky to speak in its interest and organize local unions. Before coming to this city Mr. Everett spoke at Morganfield, Dixon, Henderson and Owensboro. At these places he was greeted with enthusiasm by the farmers and the newspapers in the sections he visited devoted much space to praising the merits of the Society and urging all farmers to join it. This city was Mr. Everett's last speaking point in the State and the trip was the first of the kind he has made since he founded the Society. Besides being the originator and president of the American Society of Equity, Mr. Everett is the editor of Up-To-Date Farming, the official paper of the Society.

Mr. Everett's Speech.

Mr. Everett was introduced by E. B. Oglesby, a prominent local organizer of the Society. He did not speak as a fluent orator but in a plain, business-like manner. By request he gave special attention to the tobacco question.

There is no reason, said Mr. Everett, why the farmers should not be independent against the tobacco trust. When all farmers have organized, he said, it will be the greatest union in the world and, organized as a class, it can do anything it wants.

It is wonderful to contemplate the growth of the American Society of Equity since its foundation sixteen months ago, said Mr. Everett. It now has 100,000 members, who reside in every state in the union and in Canada also. One year ago it had about 25,000 members. At this rate Mr. Everett predicted that it will have 500,000 members by the end of 1904. "We are working for 1,000,000 members," said Mr. Everett, "but 1,000,000 is not the limit. There are about 8,000,000 farmers in the country. We will organize until we have 8,000,000 yes, 10,000,000 members. But with 1,000,000 we can accomplish anything we want to."

The plan of the Society is simple and easily for business, said Mr. Everett. There are two features, the national union and the local, between which there is direct communication. There are no state or county organizations. There are no politics in it. The object of farmers societies in the past was to tear down other kinds of business to a level with the farming business. The object of the American Society of Equity, said Mr. Everett, is to build up the agricultural industry, to make farming the best profession of all, a profession which the town people will go into the country to seek.

The farmer has first in his possession the stuff which all other classes haven't got and must have. All the society expects its members to do to secure profitable prices on their products, said Mr. Everett, is to control the market; let the demand come out to the farm and seek the supply not the supply seek the demand, as in the old way. In the old way he said, the supply was dumped on the demand and covered it up, making it a club with which to beat down prices and letting other classes than the farmer control and manipulate the market.

In speaking of the doubt expressed by some as to the farmers "sticking" together, Mr. Everett asked that he be shown a man who would not stick to that which makes him money, as he knows the Society will eventually do. Mr. Everett spent several minutes in telling what the Society has already done for the farmers of this country. About a year ago, he said, the Society told the American farmer that his 1903 wheat was worth one dollar a bushel. This was published as news through the papers of the country and attracted much attention. The object was to make the demand look for the supply and put wheat up to one dollar while it was in the hands of the farmers. This plan failed for several months but the Society kept it up and, last February, dollar wheat was reached. To prove that the Society, through the farmers, put this price on wheat, Mr. Everett stated that each wheat or real wheat was five or ten cents above speculative wheat, in February, and the speculators were continually trying to bear the market. This one act on the part of the Society was worth millions of dollars to the farmers of the country, said Mr. Everett. Many farmers had held their wheat crop until the Society got the price up to a dollar and then sold at a profit. Not only this, but the action of the Society and its recent movement had the effect of holding up the price on corn, oats, potatoes and other commodities.

Mr. Everett said if this could be done with wheat why could not the Society do it with tobacco. Tobacco, he said, is the most necessary luxury in the country and, if those people who use it couldn't get it for less than four times the present price, they would have it even then. The Society is not antagonistic to the Tobacco Trust, he said, but only wants to tell the farmers how to put their own price on their tobacco. He said that the Tobacco Trust could just as well pay the farmers of Kentucky more for their tobacco, because they could add the amount to the consumer's end of the transaction, who would pay in it in order to get his favorite luxury. He said he could not explain why the Trust does not pay the farmers of Kentucky more for their tobacco, unless on the theory that corporations have no souls. The Society, he said, has the most excellent system of crop reporting in the country. From the local unions reports are sent to the national union as to the quality and size of the tobacco crop. By these reports the minimum or equitable price for the whole country is fixed and sent back to each member through the official paper. At present, Mr. Everett said, the Society will not put a price on tobacco, but will do so later. When the State has a million members and states to the Tobacco Trust its price on tobacco it will have to buy at that price or not at all. Mr. Everett decided that there is an over-production of tobacco and stated that when the farmers put their own price on the crop the demand will readily seek the supply. As with the tobacco crop so with all other farm products, when the proper time arrives. Already, he said, the agitation over the tobacco question throughout the State by the American Society of Equity and independent unions has had the effect, lately, of bringing up the prices on the crop.

The speaker made it clear how the

HEALTH is the Most Important

In buying food-products, several things are to be thought of—i. e., Economy, Results, Easy Handling, Reliability, but the most important is Health.

Health means everything. In buying clothes, shoes, hats, furniture, etc., if the buyer is deceived and gets an imitation the only harm is loss of money. In buying food-products, if imitations are supplied, there is not only a loss of money, but perhaps an injury to health—which is beyond price.

Remember these facts when buying baking powder.

betterment of the farmers' condition through the Society will benefit all other kinds of legitimate business, and that the Society is antagonistic to none. It will help to maintain the integrity of the banker's investment; it will enable the physician to collect better fees and more readily than formerly;—and so on. All classes, said Mr. Everett, will help the farmers to organize when they fully understand the movement.

Mr. Everett said that the farmers should not depend too much on Congress for relief, at present; but should give their attention to organizing until they had a million members, when Congress should be compelled to listen to their demands and they could get anything they wanted, by reason of their great power.

Mr. Everett spoke briefly but in a sensible way about independent organizations of tobacco growers, which have sprung up all over the State in the past few weeks. It is a piece of folly, he said, to form such organizations even if they cover the whole State, unless they join the national union. He said that the independent tobacco growers' organization is much less powerful than the national union and for this gave two reasons. The independent organization is working for a profitable price on tobacco alone in Kentucky. In this, there is danger of neglecting other crops and overlooking one crop. The national organization is working for profitable crops and will not overlook any one of them. Again, the tobacco growers in the national organization, when seeking legislation in their behalf, are more powerful than an independent organization of tobacco growers.

After Mr. Everett had finished talking a number of questions were asked by some of his audience. The most important was, "How can a man hold his tobacco for a better price when he is not able to do so?" In answer, Mr. Everett said that the movement proposed by the Society might not work out perfectly right at first, because the days of miracles is past. He said he expected a few farmers will have to deliver their crop at once. But there are many who will not have to sell at once and these will make a better market, eventually, for those who can't hold at all. In a short time, as will be readily seen, all will be able to hold their crops until the proper time to market them."

To Whom Credit is Due.

To Messrs. T. E. McGraw and E. B. Oglesby, local A. S. of E. enthusiasts and organizers, is credit due for Mr. Everett's visit to this city. Mr. Everett had appointments to speak at Morganfield, Dixon, Henderson and Owensboro only. When Mr. Oglesby learned that Mr. Everett was to be at the above cities, he wrote a letter at once to Mr. Everett and urgently requested him to speak in this city or at Hardinsburg while on his present trip. On last Friday afternoon Mr. McGraw went to Owensboro and, in person, added his request to that of Mr. Oglesby. He persisted in his efforts until he made Mr. Everett believe it was his duty to come this city. After Mr. Everett spoke at Owensboro Friday afternoon he was accompanied by Mr. McGraw to this city on the accommodation train. While in the city he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Oglesby. He left for his home at Indianapolis on Sunday morning.

CHAPTER XXIX.

THESE is an apothem to the effect that one cannot spend and have also a saying about the wildwinds, both of which in time came home to the land baron. For several generations the Manville family, bearing one of the proudest names in Louisiana, had held marked prestige under Spanish and French rule, while extensive plantations included the command of the territory of the patron's ancestors. The thirtieth of his forefathers, however, passed lightly over Edward Manville's life. Pursued by his mother, a widow, who could deny him nothing, in the course of a few years he had squandered two plantations and several hundred acres. Her death placed him in undisputed possession of the residue of the estate, when, finding the exacting details of commerce repulsive, in a moment of weakness he was induced to dispose of some of his possessions to Yankee speculators who had come in with the flood, and northern energy. Most of the money thus realized he placed in loose investments, while the remainder gradually disappeared in indulging his pleasures.

At this critical stage in his fortunes, or misfortunes, the patron's legacy had seemed timely, and his trip to the north followed. In from a score of creditors to a nest of antiretrovers was out of the frying pan into the fire, hastening his return to the Crescent City, where he was soon forced to make an assignment of the remaining property. A score of hungry lawyers hovered around the sinking estate, greedily jostling for some one of their number should happen too gluttonously at this general collocation. It was the one topic of interest in the musty, dusty court-house until the end appeared with the following announcement in the local papers:

"Announcement. Vente importante de negres. Manville vendra les negres de la plantation de la Nouvelle Orleans. Et thereafter were specified the different lots of negroes to be sold.

Coincident with these distressing came news from the north regarding his supposedly immense interests in New York state. A constitutional convention had studied all feudal tenures and freed the lands from hereditary tenure. A treaty—like a house of cards—the northern heritage was swept away and about all that remained of the principal was the western portion of the land, representing one of the largest colonial states.

But even the sale of the negroes and his other possessions and property failed to satisfy his clamorous creditors or to pay his gambling debts. Those obligations at cards he was necessary to meet, so he moved out of his bachelor apartments, turned over his expensive furnishings and bric-a-brac to the gamblers and snugged his fingers at the conversations of constables and lawyers.

His new home was in the house of an aged quadroon who had been a servant in his family many years ago—how long is one seemed to remember—and who had been his nurse before he had received her freedom. She enjoyed the distinction of being feared in the neighborhood; her fetiches had a power no other witch's possessed, and many of the negroes would have done anything to have possessed these infallible charms, save crossing her threshold to get them. Manville, when he found fortune slipping away from him and ruin staring him in the face, had been glad to transfer his home to this unhallowed place; going into hiding, as it were, until the storm should blow by, when he expected to emerge, confident as ever.

But inaction soon clafed his restless nature and drove him forth in spite of himself from the streets in that quarter of the town where the roofs of various colored houses formed strange geometrical figures and the windows were bright with flaring headlamps, beneath which beamed out curious vases of ebony. Returning one day from such a peregrination, he determined to end a routine of existence so humiliating to his pride.

Pursuing before a doorway, the land baron looked this way and that, and are some things which should be success even from us. Phazma. But what is to be done when the editor in chief demands? Ours not to reason why? The poem is a monody on the tragedy at the theater."

"At the St. Charles?" said Phazma mistily. "As I passed it was closed. It seemed early for the performance to be over. Yet the theater was dark; all the lights had gone out."

"More than the lights went out," answered Straws gravely. "A life went out!"

"I don't exactly—oh, you refer to Miss Carver's farewell?"

"No, to Barnes?"

"Barnes?" exclaimed his surprised listener.

"Yes, he is dead; gone out like the snuff of a candle! Died in harness, before the footlights! He acted as if he were dazed while the play was in progress, and I could not but notice it, standing in the wings. The prompter spoke of it to me. Even Miss Carver rallied him gently between acts on his enlaid manner."

"This is our last performance together," he said absently. She gave him a reproachful look and he added quickly: "I'm a poor clowny, my dear! I never felt happier."

"At the end of the second act he began to tremble like a leaf, when she, the Isabella, said, 'I'll hit him to death, for his son's sake!' He gazed at her long and earnestly, his look expressing that of a broken man, and the scene with spirit, he had proceeded to

B. F. Beard Tells Of His Early Life in California.

B. F. Beard, of Hardinsburg, Ky., is now a prosperous banker and business man. He was born in the peaceful fields of Kentucky. In 1853, when the gold fever held the country in its relentless grasp, he went to California, and joined the "forty-niners." Those intrepid encounters with the hardships of the West for the sake of the California gold dust form an interesting chapter in the country's history. Mr. Beard said last night at the Louisville Hotel.

"There was a plenty of gold in California, when I went out there. Both my former and my subsequent years have been spent in Kentucky, but I spent eleven years of my life away from here, and I do not begrudge the time. I did not come back with any more money than I had when I left, but I had experience that I could not have gained in any other way. I saw men get rich. I saw men starve to death. I saw men killed by the Indians. I was never in serious difficulty myself, but I saw any number of people. It was when I was in the plains and the West of that day was anything but the West of today. Every man of man from the greaser of Mexico to the redskin inhabited the country, and I met men with whom I would have never come in contact elsewhere. Between the greaser and the redskin I believe I prefer the company of the latter, but the fifties were not years when men chose their associates carefully in California."—Tuesday's Courier-Journal.

Weekly Crop Report.

The following weekly crop report was sent out by the weather bureau at Louisville last week: Very cold weather prevailed during the week, with killing frosts on the morning of the 17th and 18th. The rainfall was very light. Under these conditions crops made very slight advancement, but farm work progressed well. Wheat is generally reported to be in fair condition, but is making hardly any growth. Tobacco plants are up, but at a standstill, and in some localities have been damaged by freezing.

Corn planting is progressing satisfactorily and a good acreage will be put in.

Oats are about all sown and coming up slowly.

Early potatoes and some garden crops have been planted.

Pastures and meadows look fairly well, but are not advancing much.

Fruit has been seriously injured by the heavy frosts on the 17th and 18th, but the extent of the damage can not be determined at present. It is probable that the peach crop has suffered severely in many localities.

Will Build A Cottage.

J. M. Lewis has the contract to build a five-room cottage for Abner Dent, colored, work to begin next month. The cottage will be erected on the 1st opposite the Perry County Bank. The present building will be torn down to make room for the new one.

News That is Not News.

(Western Publisher.) There is too much real news in the field to permit country correspondents to mention neighborhood visiting. A special gathering of people is always news, but a mere chronicle that Mrs. Jones took her knitting and spent the afternoon with Mother Brown, comes a long way from entertaining the general public.

A Terror to Law Breakers.

J. R. Lynam, our Commonwealth's Attorney, went after the law-breakers in Grayson county at this term of court at Letchfield in a way that is meeting with the hearty approval of the good citizens and has frightened the hearts of the law-breakers of that county. The county has been suffering for some time from the indiscriminate sale of whisky and Mr. Lynam determined to break it up. He had the grand jury return 109 indictments, most of them for violating the local option law. Three of them skipped the county to avoid bench warrants. One was fined for $430 and another $90.—Elizabethtown News.

Belated Snows Over State.

Belated snows fell over Western Kentucky last Wednesday morning and extremely cold temperature for the season prevailed. It was the heaviest snow of the year, and the worst snow storm ever known in April, in many sections. Fruit and vegetables suffered as a result. At Fordville snow fell to the depth of over six inches. In this city about two inches of snow fell in the morning but quickly melted in the afternoon.

Vividly Described.

The reporter from whose account of the fire the following is quoted must himself, says the representative of a rival journal, have been in great danger of being consumed by the fire of his own eloquence.

"The water seemed to spur the fire to wilder deeds. The flames and the smoke rolled higher and higher, and the scene became luridly, awfully magnificent, beyond tottering words power to paint. It was a canto of Dante's 'Inferno' acted in all its fiery pomp and splendor. Banners of flames would now be waved out by dark smoking bands, then ten million curling little pennons of the fire would hiss and flutter, then vanish, and a great reeling tower of smoke, whose darkness was studded and spangled with flames and sparks, would fill the buildings, grimly shoot back from roared surfaces in crimson greeting, and up in the far off sky the outgilted stars turned pale for shame and the moon through the drifted smoke glowed like a bowl of blood."

A Missouri Nonsenseman.

There are some pretty fair Nimrods in Missouri now, but a story which is printed in an old history of Callaway county shows that some of those of former days could make contemporary sportsmen look like 30 cents either as shots or as raconteurs. "Mr. Calvin Tate," according to this history, "says that the wild pigeons were so plentiful one summer that frequently when they would alight on a tree it would bend down to the ground under their weight. He went hunting one day, and seeing a fine lot of pigeons in a tree he hitched his horse to one of the limbs and fired and killed 300 at one shot. The rest flew away, and as soon as the tree was relieved of their weight it straightened up, carrying his horse with it, and the poor brute had to hang there until Tate could go home and get an ax and cut the tree down."

—Kansas City Journal.

The Indian and a Gas Furnace.

Just before gas began to be used in Pawhuska one of the Osage leaves visited Bartlesville and got his first glimpse of a gas fire. All he could see in the stove was a pile of red hot bricks, through the crevices of which the blue flames were curling. He said nothing, but before starting home he went to the yard and bought a lot of brick and hauled them home. He burned up six boxes of matches and all the dry wood his wife had cut trying to get the bricks to burn and finally hauled them back to Bartlesville and told the yard man they were no good.—Pawhuska (Okla.) Capital.

The Tibetans.

The Tibetans are not beautiful. How could they be when, by their own confession, the national ancestry runs back to the king of the monkeys and a hobgoblin? Bonvalot says of them, "The very least are better looking." The type is midway between the Eskimo and the Chinese. Broad, flat noses, without visible bridge; no eyebrows, wide mouths, full lips, oily skin, hair as coarse and straight as horsehair, and short, square, ungainly figures—these are the elements of the unpleasant picture.

Talking English.

Here is a story that comes from London and illustrates the peculiarities of the American boy: The youngster was at the Hotel Cecil, and he listened intently to a group of English folks. Suddenly he looked up at his mother. "Say, ma, do these people talk English?" "Certainly they do, my child. What a question?" "Then we don't," said the mother.

An Old Testament Verse.

The twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra in the Old Testament contains all the letters of the alphabet. "And I, even I, Artaxerxes the king, do make a decree to all the treasures which are beyond the river, that whatsoever Ezra, the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of heaven, shall require of you, it be done speedily."

The English Husband.

A poor woman in a London parish was consulting me in connection with her domestic troubles, and there was some doubt as to whether her marriage was a legal one, inasmuch as her "husband" (as she had just discovered) appeared to have a wife living from whom he had separated. The woman's pathetic inquiry was, "If he is not my husband, what right has he to knock me out?"—A Clergyman in London Spectator.

Nature's Sweet Restorer.

Blessings on him who invented sleep, the mantle that covers all human thoughts, the food that appeases hunger, the drink that quenches thirst, the fire that warms, the cold that moderates heat and, lastly, the general coin that purchases all things, the balance and weight that equals the shepherd with the king and the simple with the wise.—Cervantes.

A Eulogist.

Mrs. Norwich (in art store)—I'd take this picture, but some person has been scribbling on it. Salesman—But, madam, that is the artist's signature. Mrs. Norwich—Well, he's got his nerve. Still, I guess you could scratch it out, couldn't you?—Puck.

Values.

All long known objects, even a mere window fastener or a particular door latch, have sounds which are a sort of recognized voice to us—a voice that will thrill and awaken when it has been used to touch deep lying fibers.

Not Compulsory.

"Tell me, colonel," asked the beginner in politics, addressing the gray haired statesman, "can a politician be honest?" "I suppose so, my boy," replied the veteran, "but—ah—it isn't necessary."—Collier's Weekly.

He Was.

Miss De Mott—Were you ever hypnotized, Mr. Hector? Hector—Yes, I'm married.—Illustrated Bits.

DEATH COMES TO MRS. S. A. HOOK.

Hardinsburg, Ky., April 26. (Special.)—Mrs. Sarah A. Hook, widow of the late George Hook, and mother of the present County Court Clerk, Wm. F. Hook, died at her home at this place last Friday night. Her fatal illness was of about three weeks' duration. She suffered much but bore it all with Christian fortitude and resignation. The funeral was conducted from the M. E. church, South, on the following day, the Rev. W. F. Howard officiating at the services. A large number of the relatives and friends were present.

Mrs. Hook was a life-long member of the Presbyterian church, and a devoted Christian woman. She was possessed of a strong character and exerted a wide influence throughout the community in which she lived. More may not be said of anyone. Besides her children Mrs. Hook leaves many relatives who sincerely mourn her loss, but not as those without hope, such a loss is inspiration to all and its influence will be felt for years yet to come.

Mattingly, Ky., Apr. 22, 1904, Hon. Chas. Blanford, Bevelyville, Ky., Dear Sir: I have been solicited by a good many to write to you and ask your advice and counsel in regard to getting up a movement to macadamise our public roads. It is suggested that you call a meeting at Hardinsburg on the first day of May court and appoint a man in each magisterial district to circulate a petition to compel the county court to order an election, whether or not we will issue bonds in sufficient amount to turnpike our roads. Hoping this will meet your approbation, I am

Yours truly,
Dr. Wm. Howard.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

When the Louisville & Evansville packet Tarascon arrived here yesterday morning on her down trip, she, and probably her crew and passengers, had had a very narrow escape from destruction. About 4 o'clock yesterday morning, as the Tarascon was near Concordia, fire broke out in the cook house and the flames spread quickly. The crew was prompt to respond, and the alarm of fire and the blaze was extinguished as it reached the hurricane deck. Prompt action alone saved the boat, as ten minutes' more start for the fire would have no doubt resulted in her total loss.

PARKER AND HIS JUDAS.

(From the New York Sun.)

Within the last few weeks Judge Parker has become so considerable a figure in the eyes of the whole country and in the expectations of the Democracy that his friends have hoped and his enemies have feared, that he might emerge from the baleful shadow of his evil genius, David B. Hill. The survival of such a Hill and his attendant figure as a moral and despotic condition of his party, the same condition which accounts for all the other phenomena of disorder and disrepair which now afflict it. The man who needed a friend, but he betrayed him, and who never served his party but to wreck it, can be safely trusted to discharge for Judge Parker the only function for which nature has fully qualified him. When the whole country is vitally looking for a man whose political life is founded on the Constitution, who believes in obedience to the law as fully as he does in the enforcement of the law, for a man in whom the elements of common honesty and patriotism are not completely subordinated to a selfish and dishonorable ambition, Hill's most earnest endeavor is to display his candidate, Judge Parker, as an unworthy demagogue and a dishonest charlatan.

Judge Parker has several times handed down decisions in labor disputes, and so far these decisions have come to our notice, they have been characterized by a good deal of common sense and a plain, straightforward interpretation of the law. They have been decisions of an honest judge and an impartial jurist. According to Hill, they have been decisions which should command the admiration and ensure the fealty of every labor agitator and social disturber in the country. He desires it to be understood distinctly that Judge Parker has been willing to prostitute the bench to the demands of labor, and by inference that in the White House he will be equally subservient and can be trusted to undo Mr. Roosevelt or any other candidate of any party in his solicitude for organized labor.

We have been wholly unable to find anything in Judge Parker's decisions which explains this anxiety on the part of Hill to construe them. They are the plain, sensible and rather obvious opinions of a lawyer, which we have described them to be, and nothing more. Neither Judge Parker's enemies nor his friends can make any political capital out of them. They simply reveal him as an honest and conscientious man; and to that, nowadays, no sort of political importance or significance attaches, anywhere.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers. They filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or overworked, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or uneasy heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is overworking in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Klinger's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle by mail. Write for it. Free also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Klinger & Co., Birmingham, N. Y.

SKETCH OF GEN. ADAIR.

(From the Hancock Courier.)

The announcement of the death of General Adair, which was made Tuesday morning, came as one of the greatest surprises and shocks the community ever sustained. The end came suddenly. He was at the pump securing water, when he was stricken with vertigo, resulting from stomach trouble. It is thought. Physicians were called, but he passed away in about an hour.

The funeral occurred Wednesday at 2 p. m. from his residence, burial in the Havesville cemetery, the services being conducted by Rev. E. R. Bennett and T. H. Smith, of the public schools, which church he was a member of. The active pallbearers were chosen from the attorneys and court officers, with whom he had been turned all his life and the funeral was one of the largest ever held here.

David Lafayette Adair was born at Elizabethtown, Ky., in 1824, therefore was nearly 80 years old. At the age of 14 he came to Hancock county and has resided here practically ever since. He served all through the war with Mexico in 1847-8 and there gained his title of General. In 1850 he was married to Miss Sarah A., daughter of William Sterett. Besides his wife, there is left to survive him the following children: W. S. A prominent newspaper man of Ft. Worth, Texas; Jno. S., cashier Bank of Stephensport and former judge Hancock county; L. C., Cashier Bank of Fordville and capitalist; Mrs. Mary Whitworth and Misses Eliza and Dood Adair, all of whom are at home, and the latter being postmaster of Havesville.

Anything like an adequate presentation of the life and character of Gen. Adair in the space of this short newspaper article would be out of the question. In brief he was a kindly, generous hearted citizen, who, probably, was never appreciated at his true worth. We never remember to have met and conversed with a man of such general information and deep learning as he. He was a master of the sciences. He was a lawyer, jurist, naturalist, mineralogist, teacher in the deep sense, student, thinker, horticulturist, journalist, civil engineer and soldier. He filled a host of honor in Hancock county, but nearly always by appointment. He was not a success as a candidate, since the wiles of the demagogue and his conduct as was necessary to bring success was utterly foreign to his many make up. In fact practical politics was disgusting to him, although he was broad and deep in his views on public questions.

We do not expect to see another like him in our time. May his soul rest in peace.

Resolutions on the Death of Gen. Adair.

At a special meeting of the resident members of the Hancock Circuit Bar held in the city of Havesville on Wednesday, April 30, 1904, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas: It has pleased Divine Providence to summon before the Bar of Heaven's Chancery the soul of the Nestor of our bar. Therefore, be it resolved, That in the death of Hon. D. L. Adair this community has lost an honest, up-right, courageous, learned and patriotic citizen, who, while in the midst of his own family circle, around the fireside of his friends and neighbors, or in the places of honor and profit he has so capably filled, was at all times, under all circumstances so far as the frailty of mere flesh beings would permit, the CHEVALIER HAYWARD SANS PEUR ET SANS REPROCHE.

That our bar tenders to the family of our deceased brother in this hour of their deepest gloom heartfelt condolences, and if mere words can assuage such grief as must be theirs, we would bid them look up and feel that "Above the stars there is rest."

Resolved, further That these resolutions of the Hancock Circuit Court and copies of the same be furnished to the county press and the family of the deceased.

HOW TO BECOME BEAUTIFUL

To Perfect Your Figure.

A famous physician, in speaking of health, beauty, and a good figure, said:

"In my experience many American women have not the strength to take up outdoor sports, many lack the inclination for active physical exertion, household cares or office work—they feel languid, tired and worn-out by the weaknesses so common to their sex. Some women have household duties which keep them shut up at home. For all such persons I should advise a few simple daily exercises, with light dumbbells, devoting only ten minutes of the day to it at first, and gradually increasing it until they find that their whole being is stimulated and strengthened by it. If the young girl—or the matron—is troubled at certain periods with irregularity, weakening drains, and backache—perhaps faint and dizzy spells—then she should take something medicinally to correct these faults. Nothing could be better than a prescription which Dr. R. V. Pierce used in his large practice for many years, in the diseases of women. This "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce has had an immense sale for the past thirty-six years, because of its uniform success in the cure of women's diseases, and because of the many thousands of women who have attested to its merit. Being made entirely of extracts of roots and herbs, without alcohol, it is perfectly harmless to the most delicate system, and the best ready-to-hand remedy in the market."

"To insure perfect health, every tissue, bone, nerve, tendon, or muscle should take from the blood certain materials for its nourishment and growth. Every organ must have its period of activity and of rest, so as to circulate the vital fluid in a proper manner to nourish every part. This is why I believe in advising every woman to take gentle exercise out of doors or indoors. If the functions are not regular or the pains are severe then she should at once use a reliable remedy."

Mrs. A. BELYEA, of Rockland, New Brunswick, said:

"I suffered more than a year from nervousness and functional derangement. Had pains in the left side of abdomen all the time. Some days could hardly get around. Kept my bed about half the time. I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and got his advice for which I have ever been thankful. I began taking 'Favorite Prescription' right away as he advised. It makes me sleep well at night which I never did before, and I feel rested. Can truthfully say Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has cured me."

Mrs. O. O. SCRIPTURE, of Prescott, Arizona, said:

"Words cannot express how grateful I am for what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done for me. For nearly ten years I was great sufferer with ulcerations and sickness peculiar to women. I doctored for several years; got no better until I began taking the 'Prescription.' Now I can stand on my feet and work hard all day. I feel that life is worth living, and shall always recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines."

ADVICE TO MARRIED WOMEN. You should have a good medical book that tells you about the womanly system; treats fully of Physiology and Anatomy; without and motherhood. Smith Talks About Hearst.

Washington, April 22.—W. R. Hearst's first public utterance since his election to Congress was made this morning before the Judiciary Committee of the House in behalf of his nomination asking that certain information in reference to the anti-trust combination be transmitted to Congress. Mr. Hearst was requested by the committee to speak, otherwise he would not have done so.

Representative Smith, of Kentucky, a member of the committee, said: "Mr. Hearst made a fair statement before the committee, but not one of any strength. He is not a strong man in any sense of the word, and his appearance did not change my opinion of his ability."

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes swollen, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement, I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents guaranteed, at Short & Haynes drug store.

BINGHAM MAY 2.

Ralph Bingham, the famous impersonator, humorist, violinist and vocalist raconteur,—"The World's Leading Monologue Entertainer," as the Philadelphia Times puts it—will give an original entertainment at Ogle's Hall Monday evening, May 2, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church, South of this city. It was announced in the News several weeks ago that Mr. Bingham would appear in this city some time in May and since that time his coming has been looked forward to with pleasure by those who have heard him and those who have heard of him. Ralph Bingham has filled 7,000 audiences with mirth, merriment and laughter and has journeyed 500,000 miles during his career, an artistic record without parallel. He will do this next Monday night for the seven thousand and one time—and at popular prices.

Sciatic Rheumatism Cured.
"I have been subject to sciatic rheumatism for years," says E. H. Waldron, of Wilton Junction, Iowa. "My joints were stiff and gave much pain and discomfort. My joints would crack when I straightened up, I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and have been thoroughly cured. Have not had a pain or ache from the old trouble for many months. It is certainly a most wonderful salve." For sale by Short & Haynes.

OPENING OF THE FAIR.

Electricity will play an important part in the opening of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis, on next Saturday, as it will, in fact, throughout the exposition. It has been decided by the World's Fair administration to install electrical devices instead of having ticket sellers and ordinary trustees during the exposition period. The Lindell entrance will be the main gate to the exposition. The thirty-two turnstiles are being installed, and through this entrance alone it is estimated that at least 500 persons can pass every sixty seconds. To gain admission to the ground the person must approach the turnstile and place a half dollar in the slot. This half dollar as it descends is still visible and unlocks the turnstile. The person can then pass through the gates and the minute that he is inside the "nettle is locked. Individual gates are installed for children. At a turnstile a quarter will operate the mechanism. The buildings and exhibits are already in readiness to receive the fair visitors and tests of certain features have been made. Physicians insure their success. Last week, in presence of President Francis, of World's Fair, and several prominent officials of the exposition, a test of the cascades was made. The result was satisfactory, and the officials were pleased with the effect of what considered the feature of the fair. A one pump was used, having a capacity of 30,000 gallons of water a minute. On the opening day double quantity will be thrown. The great fountain at the foot of the cascades thrice plumes of spray feet high, which, when the pump is working, will be in use to fifty feet.

A Thoughtful Man.

Why Alexieff Resigned.
Berlin, April 26.—The Morgen Post learns from its St. Petersburg correspondent that the czar telegraphed to Alexieff, commanding of inefficiency and incompetency and intimating him for the disasters that have fallen to the fleet at Port Arthur. The Journal says that this was the cause of the resignation of Alexieff. It is also stated that the czar determined to die rather than survive the disgrace to the Russian army and had been rendered certain by Alexieff's incompetency.

Advertising Got Husband.
Frankfort, Ky., April 21.—Miss actress Dunn had published in a newspaper that she wanted a husband. There was nothing in this market at all. She is twenty-one years old, up-to-date and a daughter of a well-to-do farmer. Fifty-eight answered her advertisement and she selected Eugene Zimmerman, of Peoria, Ill. After a short graphic correspondence he arrived here and in less than six hours they were legally married by the Rev. J. H. Dashed. Her parents are pleased with their new son-in-law. They will live at Peoria.

Taking Care of the Form by Proper Exercise, feeding and dressing. Choice of the Corset and the Correct Way to Wear It.

There is no excuse for a woman's feelings. When the laces are tight enough, she should cross them in the back, bring them to the front, pass them under the garter on the left side and tie them there.

The great advantage of this tightening the corset laces every day is that the figure can be moulded. There are days when a woman feels that a tight corset is more than she can bear. Then she leaves the laces loose at first, and draws them up later in the day when she has reached the point where a little corset compression will be grateful to her.

"I can hear the protests of busy women over the time it will take to go to this trouble. But it really takes less time than one would think. At first before one is accustomed to the process it may require a few minutes more than one has been in the habit of granting to one's toilet, but as the habit grows upon one of lacing the corsets daily, it will be done more quickly and become a matter of course. And even if it does take a few minutes more, is not the game worth the candle? When one sees the good figures that have been evolved from shapeless forms by the use of good corsets, does it not seem that little extra care is a very small price to pay for the gain?"

The corset once on, the woman must proceed to live up to it. She will find that it helps her to keep her shoulders straight and her body erect. She must learn to raise herself properly, to throw her weight on the balls of her feet and resist the temptation to sway backwards. That is a tendency which grows upon woman as they advance in years and in flesh. If they do not stand so straight that they lean the other way, they let their shoulders droop until the middle of the back is like a hump. All about the country one may see women in the late fifties who have bent their shoulders until they look almost as though they were deformed. This could have been spared them if they had taken a little pains early in life. And even an elderly woman can do much to correct such a stoop if she is willing to give herself trouble about it.

To stand straight is neither to bend backwards nor to droop forwards. The prominent abdomen is as unsightly as the humped up shoulders. The woman with a trend towards either should exercise herself every day standing in front of a mirror. She must use it for the advice of an sensible housekeeper and hang a looking glass in her kitchen where she can see herself as she steps back and forth about her work and bring herself up with a round turn if she slips into any slovenly trick of carriage.

The corset will give a good figure for a time, but a woman must work to keep it. If she is too thin for beauty the task will be simpler for her than for the woman inclined to put on flesh. The latter has her work ahead of her. The thin woman may have to take exercise, as the stout one must do, but she has less to contend with her while she is doing it. For both it is essential that exercise should be taken in doors and out. The latter is vastly preferable for obvious reasons. But the exercise indoors is far better than nothing.

One woman who would be called old if her years were known has never, for fifteen years, failed to go through a certain course of what she calls her "gymnastics," on rising in the morning. For ten minutes daily, she bends and twists her body, stoops

Not Hearst's Time.
A few of the papers in Kentucky are zealously supporting W. R. Hearst for the Presidency. Mr. Hearst is a good Democrat, a friend to labor and all that, but his time has not arrived yet. THE FIGURE.

BY CHRISTINE TERHUNE HERRICK.

ing until she sits on her heels and rising without laying hold of anything to assist her. She leans forward until she can touch the floor with her finger tips, without bending the knees, and backward until her forehead is in contact with the wall. She swings her arms about, kicks the air vigorously and in every way she can brings all her muscles into play. As a result of this she is as brisk and agile as women many years her junior and asserts that she never means to grow old but to keep her strength and vigor to the end. As she probably will.

"When such exercises as this are taken it should be with the window open, even in cold weather. There is no use in inflating the lungs unless you fill them with fresh air. For this reason as well as for many others, out-door exercise is preferable to that taken in a gymnasium, no matter how well equipped this may be. At the best, it is only a substitute. Long walks, horseback riding, bicycle riding, golf or tennis, all do their share in developing the muscles, reducing adipose tissue or strengthening the body to gain flesh. One at least of these is needed to keep the figure in shape or falling this, one must follow the exercises I have outlined.

These may be aided by such appliances as a lifting machine, dumb-bells, Indian clubs, and the like. Because of the many muscles called into play by it, ping-pong is one of the best games known. It encourages lunging and stooping and reaching and stretching, and by all these means develops and improves the figure.

But, says some one, "How can this be done in the long, straight front corset pressed everywhere?" It cannot. But there are corsets which come to be worn on such occasions. The ribbon girdle corset, made either in heavy ribbon or in wide tape, or the short equestrian corset is adapted to all sorts of vigorous exercises. It is also excellent for the women who do a good deal of housework which requires bending over and stooping. While it does not hold in the over-plump figure as a heavier, longer corset would do, it is far better to yield to a little restriction than to break one's steels and suffer discomfort at the same time.

A woman can never allow herself to become careless about her corset. Having gone to the expense and pains of procuring one and learning how to wear it she should not let the gain slip away from her. When her corset becomes old and out of shape she should have it re-boned, as it is worth while to do with a good corset. Never should she relax her vigilance over her figure and her way of carrying herself. Perhaps for a while it will seem a good deal of a burden, but after a time the well carried form, with the back straight, the head up, the shoulders properly poised, will become instinctive, so that the trouble would be to bear herself in the wrong way.

It is a woman's duty to keep her good looks as long as she can and a good figure is a most important part of that. A pretty face is all very well—but are few women who would not be willing to yield a virtue or two to possess a charming countenance—but it loses a great deal if it is set on top of a badly carried, badly carried figure. When a woman gets toward the point where youthful charms are fading, it is a boon to her and to those about her if she has a well made, well borne form. And the possession of this is within her own power.

Short Talks On Advertising By Charles Austin Bates.

It isn't so much what you say as where you say it. Put a preacher on a desert island and what he says will not have much effect. If he is in the pulpit, talking to 500 intelligent people, his words will have weight. They will do some good.

What you say in an advertisement, and how you say it, doesn't matter nearly so much as where it is said.

You might have the most attractive advertisement that was ever designed, offering the biggest bargains that were ever offered, and if you put it down cellar under the coal it would never sell a cent's worth of goods.

A poorly written advertisement, poorly displayed, in a good newspaper will do some good. Of course, a better advertisement would do more good, but the style of the advertisement must be thought of

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, orator of Reservoir Council No. 368, Northwestern Legion of Honor, of Minneapolis, Minn., writes from 2305 Polk street, N.E.:

"I have been troubled all my life with chronic catarrh. I have used it in my head. I took Peruna for about three months, and now think I am permanently cured. I believe that for catarrh in all its forms Peruna is the medicine of the age. It cures when all other remedies fail. I can heartily recommend Peruna as a safe catarrh remedy."—Mrs. Elmer Fleming.

Treat Catarrh in Spring.
The spring is the time to treat catarrh. Cold, wet winter weather often retards a cure of catarrh. If a course of Peruna is taken during the early spring months the cure will be prompt and permanent. There can be no failures if Peruna is taken intelligently during the favorable weather of spring.

As a systemic catarrh remedy Peruna eradicates catarrh from the system wherever it may be located. It cures the catarrh of the stomach or bowels with the same certainty as catarrh of the head.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

NOTICE!

The Sheriff of Breckenridge county, when sworn into office, swears to treat all persons in the same manner. He takes an oath to collect your taxes. You want this done—yearly—then you are secure, also the Sheriff. I, as a deputy, am bound to the Sheriff first, then the people. I am going to abide by my oath and, if you are owing taxes, you will save the cost of advertising and the trouble of extra cost if you

PAY AT ONCE.

I am going to advertise all persons owing me taxes, whether much or little, and am going to set as soon as I can after the month of April. Please do not come to me with excuses, for you are aware I have waited with you patiently, and it is no trouble for you to borrow a few dollars. This is positive, and will be followed to the letter of the law. It was decided here at the last Circuit Court that land sales for taxes are legal. I must have the old taxes before the new book comes out.
